

Debris:

The Advanced Contracting Initiative (ACI) for debris removal, site management/debris reduction management, and structural demolition has been awarded with an effective date of 1 May 2008. These are Indefinite delivery-indefinite quantity (IDIQ) contracts. The contracts include a base and 4 optional one year ordering periods. A total of 28 contracts were awarded by area or pool.

The Regional ACI SATOC concept includes a single IDIQ contract for each designated area and the Multiple Award Task Order Contract (MATOC) pools were established for small businesses on each coast of the US. See the following:

The Regional ACI SATOC contractors serve as the backbone of our capability. These contractors provide both mission planning and execution. Further, they provide the Automated Debris Management System (ADMS) for all contractors operating in their area. The MATOC pool will only assist in mission execution. In an effort to drive down prices, the Government should have more than one contractor respond to every mission assignment. For major disasters, Regional ACI contractors from outside the impacted region shall provide reach back capability. See chart above for assignments.

To illustrate this strategy, imagine a Category III hurricane hit the coast of Alabama. The 2a Regional ACI contractor would be brought in before the storm hits to assist in planning. After the storm hits, the impacted area will be divided geographically. The 2a Regional ACI contractor and its backup up would be assigned the dense, urban areas. The Southern MATOC pool would compete for the geographic regions that are less populated and received less damage. In this way, the Government reduces performance risk while ensuring small business contribution to the recovery. Further, with 3 or more contractors working in the region, the negotiators will have additional leverage in lowering prices and reducing costs.

The Regional ACI SATOC contracts include three conditions that will enable the Government to utilize a reach back contractor: (1) A single event that has generated in excess of 10M CY of debris (2) The Regional SATOC contractor has had two or more rating periods with a score of 50% or less on any task order (3) The Government is unable to negotiate fair and reasonable prices for the task orders.

This unique concept of Regional ACI Contractors with MATOC pools of small businesses maximizes small business participation in the process while ensuring USACE will achieve its operational objectives.
