Depot building to be demolished

A building with two smokestacks will be demolished Monday in a ribbon-cutting ceremony for a $4.5 million road-building and utility-upgrading project at Defense Distribution Depot Memphis.

The Depot Redevelopment Corp. also invited the city and county mayors to celebrate its progress in transforming the former military supply base into an industrial and manufacturing leasing community.

The depot closed in 1997 and has since acquired seven tenants.

The doomed building is near the center of the gargantuan complex and will be blown up to make way for a new main road.

The main entrance is on Airways just south of Lamar.

The ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. Refreshments will be available.
